

The School of International Service &
the Center for Asian Studies at American University

are pleased to present the 11th annual

Warren S. Hunsberger Lecture:

Chinese Politics -- “Out of Bad Things Come Good Things”

Roderick MacFarquhar

Harvard University

Wednesday, April 2, 2008

3:30pm

School of International Service Lounge

Reception to follow

Roderick MacFarquhar is the Leroy B. Williams Professor of History and Political Science and formerly Director of the John King Fairbank Center for East Asian Research. His publications include “The Hundred Flowers Campaign and the Chinese Intellectuals”, “The Sino-Soviet Dispute”, “China under Mao”, “Sino-American Relations, 1949-1971”; “The Secret Speeches of Chairman Mao”; the final two volumes of the Cambridge “History of China” (edited with the late John Fairbank); “The Politics of China” 2nd Ed: “The Eras of Mao and Deng”; and a trilogy, “The Origins of the Cultural Revolution”. He was the founding editor of The China Quarterly, and has been a fellow at Columbia University, the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars, and the Royal Institute for International Affairs. In previous personae, he has been a journalist, a TV commentator, and a Member of Parliament. His most recent, jointly-authored book on the Cultural Revolution entitled “Mao's Last Revolution” was published by the Belknap Press of Harvard University Press in 2006.

The Warren Hunsberger Lecture was established to commemorate the founding director of American University's Center for Asian Studies, Professor Warren Hunsberger (1911-1997).

For additional information, please contact the Center for Asian Studies at 202-885-1760